Good evening,

I just wanted to drop a quick note to let you know how awesome your message is on the southbound side of your billboard; about believing in the separation of church and hate! It seems these days that the crazy people who call themselves "Christians" are

A few weeks ago we put this message on our reader board along the Greenwood Ave. side of the building. I thought it was a clever play on words. I also thought that, given the vitriolic nature of some of what is said in the name of "the church", it was a helpful reminder to us all to speak and act with love rather than hate. I hoped that people would smile when they read it.

I could not have anticipated the response that we've had! We have received several emails from complete strangers, who have been so moved by the message of the sign that they've taken the time to search for our website, find an email address, compose and send their appreciation. Here are two samplings from what we received:

We are visiting from Canada and happened to drive by your church this morning. We loved the sentiment of separation between church and hate. Thank you!

*Sincerely,
Marnie Schaetti
Sent from my iPhone*

getting so much more attention than the sane people that believe EVERYONE should be treated with respect and love. Keep up the good work!

Chrystie

The photo of the sign has also been posted on Facebook, and has, as they say, "gone viral", being shared on almost thirty new pages and being "liked" too many times to count, all because we were willing to speak a message that reaches others with the radical, inclusive welcome of the Gospel.

How is it that the Church (the larger Church) has become associated with words that divide? If the Church sings and says and in other ways professes the love of God, how can it then even begin to suggest that God's love does not reach to every single person?

I am so grateful to serve at Luther Memorial, where the expansive love of Christ reaches out beyond ourselves. It is not always easy to live out our mission statement of "Actively Sharing Christ's Love in Community", but when we do, we are sharing the Gospel message.

It can be especially difficult to stay centered in the Gospel message when the messages around us are full of suspicion, judgment, divisiveness, and yes, even hatred. This seems particularly true around election time. And yet, if we can imagine ourselves filtering our speech through Christ's love....which embraces every person....how much more are we then actively sharing that love?

It also occurs to me that the message on our reader board was a form of Evangelism....a word Lutherans love but dread putting into practice. But we didn't have to knock on doors or assault people with pointed questions...instead we simply offered a hopeful word in an interesting way. I think that's what Jesus did, too, throughout the gospels, in parables and stories.

Beloved community, let's reach out with love and compassion to our neighbors...to community wherever it is found. Let's be reminded that we do believe in the separation of church and hate.

Serving with you,

Pastor Julie+

Luther Memorial has a new look!

Almost everything that is represented by a logo sees that image change as the organization and the community around it evolve. Think back to logos of organizations, businesses, and even congregations. Here's how Kentucky Fried Chicken's logo evolved over the years: For many years, Luther Memorial has been represented by a simple cross in a triangle, designed by Ed Ehret. In keeping with the times, this well designed creation told something of the story of this congregation.

With that design in mind, Luther Memorial commissioned Christy Watson, who is a graphic designer, our web master, (and Paul and Karen Olsen's daughter) to update our logo and the materials that surround it.

Christy's design exemplifies the mission and ministry here at LMLC. Prominent in the logo is the cross, reminding us of our faith in Jesus Christ, crucified and risen. The cross is white, which is a color of hope and of the Easter season. In addition, the placement of the cross reminds us that Jesus is the center of all that we do.

The rectangular shaped background is divided into two rotated triangles. One echoes the rock wall in our sanctuary and the solid foundation upon which our faith is built. The other echoes the dusky blue color that is present in our sanctuary as well as the blue of sky and water, reminding us of the goodness of all Creation.

The typeface is a modern typeface, suggesting LMLC's commitment to carrying the Gospel into the future. The prominent M's whose mid points reach the base line, are faint allusions to triangles. The lower case "lutheran church" is a very modern touch.

LMLC News and Events

Where are the LBWs??

In 2005 the ELCA debuted a new hymnal...Evangelical Lutheran Worship. The ELCA notes that ELW was developed as, “a new and common approach to primary worship resources that are supportive of the entire ELCA for the next generation. It is important to remember that Evangelical Lutheran Worship is not so much comprehensive as it is core. It will provide a grounded center that presents the breadth of a living tradition, a common treasury that reminds us that in Jesus Christ we are held together. As the primary worship book of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Canada, Evangelical Lutheran Worship will contribute to the sense that congregations are connected, a communion of local assemblies sharing in the same mission of God.” ©

At the recommendation of the Worship Committee, your Church Council approved the transition to ELW for Luther Memorial. We have already been utilizing this resource through its online materials, but now we will have the hymnals available in the pews.

Through the gifts of two Memorial funds, we have seed money for the initial purchase of hymnals. The congregation is invited to donate hymnals in honor or memory of loved ones. This opportunity will begin to be available in October, and we anticipate the arrival of the ELWs in time for the beginning of a new church year in Advent.

What about the LBWs? Those LBWs that were donated in honor or memory of individuals will be available for those families to take home. Additional LBWs will be available for purchase at a cost of a $5 donation toward the purchase of ELWs. This will all take place on September 16, 23, and 30 in Katie's Parish.

As for the most important question....the official color of the new hymnal? “New Cranberry” or Red.

Welcome, Vicar Inge! A successful service, and Pounding

On Sunday, August 5, we welcomed our new Intern to LMLC with fellowship and a pounding. We are very excited for her to be here, and it has been a blessing for her to join us.

Intern Question of the Month

When and how often will Vicar Inge preach?

For the first few months, the intern will generally preach once a month. Following that, the schedule will vary so that she will have the opportunity to experience a variety of preaching opportunities, such as preaching two Sundays in a row, or preaching at a mid-week service.

Vicar's View

It's hard to believe it, but I'm here! It is a great feeling to have arrived here in Seattle, and had the opportunity to meet so many of you over the past month as intern at Luther Memorial. I felt wonderfully welcomed by Pastor Julie, who prepared and furnished my apartment and office with attention and care, and by all of you who attended the Potluck on August 5, my first Sunday, or dropped off cards and gifts at another time. I was successfully "pounded" that day- with no marks or bruises, but instead a lot of food and supplies to fill my empty cupboards. Some of my most interesting "poundings" were Seattle coffee, Scandinavian treats, butter, scrubbing bubbles, an alarm clock, and even a pound cake mix. Thank you to all!

For those of you who don't know, this is my first time on the West Coast- in fact, my first time west of Kansas City! The train ride was a wonderful opportunity to experience the breadth of our country through the vast plains of Montana, and watch the varied landscapes of the state of Washington. Coming over the Cascades and arriving in Seattle was exciting and joyous! I am in awe at the beauty I see around me every day here- the sunset over the Olympic Mountains, the cold salty water of Puget Sound, and the abundant blackberry bushes! I am amazed at the great diversity here, and the many different languages I hear every day on my walk to work. Culturally, I have found people to be friendly and laid back, and I am even adjusting quite well to sorting my garbage!

As I settle in to life here both in Seattle and as intern at LMLC, I want to thank you again for your care and welcome. This vital internship year is only possible with your support as a congregation: in your openness to my presence and participation in your ministry and patience through my journey on the learning curve. Beginning this next leg of our time together, I am reminded of this prayer from the LBW's Evening Prayer service:

O God, you have called your servants to ventures of which we cannot see the ending, by paths as yet untrodden, through perils unknown. Give us faith to go out with good courage, not knowing where we go, but only that your hand is leading us and your love supporting us; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Thank you for your supporting love as we begin this year's journey together!

Peace,

Vicar Inge

Multiple Hats

by The Rev. Wm Chris Boerger, Bishop

In this ongoing series of articles I have reminded us that the election of a bishop is a call process and, as such, should be supported by Bible Study and prayer. I have also reflected on the travel commitments that come with the office of bishop. This month

I want to acknowledge the multiple hats that a bishop gets to put on in this role.

First, the office of bishop is a pastoral office. That means that the proclamation of the Gospel is the primary task. Calling the church to be the body of Christ in the world is central to the tasks given to a bishop. I have found great joy in the regular invitations to preach in the congregations of this synod. This is a high honor and a serious task for the bishop of this synod. I would have liked to have presided at the table more often, but I understand and appreciate the role of the local pastor in leading the congregation's worship.

Second, the bishop is the chief ecumenical officer of the synod. That means that regular contact with other judicatory leaders is important to this role. We are truly blessed to have a strong tradition of cooperation and communication between the Christian leaders in the Seattle area. The growing involvement of our Jewish and Muslim colleagues is encouraging. Much of this work is done just by showing up. The presence of the bishop at the ecumenical and interfaith activities is important to this synod and to our larger role in the faith community.

Third, the bishop is the synod's match maker. The bishop introduces potential pastors to congregational call committees. This role is one of the places where the synod and congregation can, and I believe do, work together toward strengthening the life of the congregation. Working to find candidates for call, who meet a Ministry Site Profile, is a significant part of the bishop's call. This work is often done by or with the strong support of the bishop's assistant. It is a task that requires multiple eyes, looking at possible matches in preparation for giving this work back to the call committee.

Fourth, the bishop is the synod's traffic cop. The responsibility of the office of oversight means that the bishop or the bishop's staff will be involved with a congregation at the time of conflict or when the discipline responsibilities of this church are required. This is never fun work. Listening and coaching are important qualities to share in these situations.

Fifth, the bishop is to cast a vision for the synod. On my desk is a "certificate" that I received for the former bishop of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Synod, Roy Almquist. It quotes Augustine, Bishop of Hippo, "The task of the Bishop is to keep the Church alert until the Lord comes again." I have looked at it every time I sit at my desk. Through preaching, teaching and writing, along with one on one conversation, the task of the bishop is to hold a vision of Christ's church before the members of the church and before the world.

There are many other tasks given in the constitution to the office of synodical bishop. These are the ones that I have tried to prioritize as the ones that get my attention. Our next bishop will have to establish their own priorities. I pray for the Spirit's guidance for whomever you elect.

Introducing the ELCA Malaria Campaign

www.elca.org/malaria

Malaria is a leading cause of death in Africa. It claims the life of a child every 45 seconds. The 2011 ELCA Churchwide Assembly voted to approve the ELCA Malaria Campaign to help eliminate deaths from this disease—for good.

Why malaria?

Just one bite from an infected mosquito is all it takes for a person to come down with malaria. Almost 800,000 people die of malaria each year. But it shouldn't be this way. We know what it takes to stop malaria. The disease is completely preventable and treatable.

Why now?

Ending deaths from malaria is now a goal within our reach, thanks to a global movement of governments and international organizations. The ELCA and Lutheran churches in Africa are now part of this historic effort.

Why us?

Working as a church, through churches in Africa, we already have the structure in place to reach individuals and communities that other organizations cannot reach. We already have health care providers trained to make a difference.

What's next?

We need your help. Your prayers, your leadership and your generous donations are needed to meet our fundraising goal of $15 million by 2015. Learn more at www.elca.org/malaria.
