The Rev. Mark Hanson preaching at the Installation for Bishop Kirby Unti.

On September 15th we installed Kirby Unti as the Bishop of the NW Washington synod. You might wonder exactly what it is a bishop does. A part of what a bishop does is oversee and guide the work that we do together as a synod – a group of congregations joined together by virtue of our geography. We do good work in this synod and we offer our prayers for Kirby during this time.

At his installation at St. Mark's Cathedral, the outgoing Presiding Bishop of the ELCA, Mark Hanson, was the preacher. Bishop Hanson likes to have people talk to one another as a part of the sermon. On this particular day, he asked us to consider (and then talk to one another about) whether our congregation was a "settled" congregation or a "sent" congregation. He wanted to know whether we existed largely for ourselves or whether our ministries were geared toward being sent out into the world.

What would you say to this? Is Luther Memorial a settled congregation or a sent congregation?

I've been pondering this question ever since September 15th. Whenever I've engaged in some aspect of ministry since then, I've asked myself, Is this activity a part of being settled or sent? Because when I turned to the person next to me during Bishop Hanson's sermon, to talk about this question, my answer was "Both". That was her answer about her congregation, too. I think it's true that most congregations are both settled and sent. But when we lean too far into being settled, we forget the very reason we are here as a church – to be sent out into the world.

All around us, there are opportunities to be sent. We are sent to serve the women and children of Mary's Place. We are sent to feed the hungry through our gifts to the food bank, our support of the CROP walk, and our brown bag lunch program.

We are sent to be a voice for justice through our support of the Faith Action Network.

Pastor Deanna Wildermuth and Pastor Julie, during the conversation portion of Rev. Hanson's sermon

We are sent to say yes to equality for all people by marching in the PRIDE parade. We are a sent people.

I would like to know how you would like to be sent out into the world. What areas of ministry and mission are you passionate about? Where do you think God's hands and feet are most needed? Will you tell me? And because I won't possibly be able to remember all that you tell me....will you write it down and give/mail/email/send by carrier pigeon this part of the Messenger back to me? If you are reading this electronically, please print this page so that you can give me your feedback. Or better yet...open up a new window and send me an email! How do you think Luther Memorial is being sent out into our community and God's creation?

Being sent with you,

Pastor Julie Hobart

Please return or email (pastor@luthermemoralseattle.com) to PJ:

I think Luther Memorial Church is sent into the world in these ways:

Here's how I'd like to see us go out into the world:

Name (just so we can have some feedback!):

LMLC News and Events

Thank you!

I apologize that this note of thanks didn't make it in to the September newsletter- the transition back to the Midwest has been full of reunions and new beginnings, and has kept on my toes!

But it would be remiss if I didn't say thank you for the goodbye celebration on July 21- the delicious salmon meal, the festive singing, and the beautiful gifts that I will take with me into my ministry. I look forward to the day when I will wear the stole with all of your names on the inside and celebrate how my internship at Luther Memorial prepared me for this vocation.

Blessings from Ohio,

Vicar Inge

Welcome New Members!!

On Rally Sunday we welcomed four new members to Luther Memorial:

Rolf and Marge Skrinde come to us by transfer of membership from Bethany Lutheran Church. William Fisher and his great granddaughter Siera Wilson, join by affirmation of faith. Welcome to this community of faith!

First Sunday Faith Forum

Our First Sunday Faith Forum kicks off this month on October 6. Join Vicar Anja for a time of exploring what it means to live out our faith in the world. This will also be an opportunity to get to know her and hear more of her story as well. 9 am in the Fireside Room.

Welcome Back, Choir!

We are so glad the choir is back from summer break! It's always wonderful to have their leadership in worship. If YOU are interested in singing with the choir, join them for rehearsal Sunday mornings at 8:30. Make a joyful noise, all the earth!

Bible Study

Our Thursday evening Bible Study is in full swing! We have started studying the books that did NOT make it into the Bible, including (but not limited to) the additions to Daniel (including the wonderful story of Bel and the Dragon), Wisdom of Solomon, and some of the Apocryphal Gospels. This promises to be a stimulating and adventuresome journey. Join us Thursdays at 6 pm, to be a part of it! If you'd like to take a look at the schedule, see page 15, or the board by the office. See you there!

CROP Walk

Luther Memorial is WALKING!!! Sunday, October 6, we are walking to end hunger... "one step at a time." Proceeds from the walk not only benefit Church World Service, but also help Mary's Place and North Helpline.

Come join us to walk (or root us on!) at Green Lake United Methodist Church at 12:30 pm. If you would like to contribute to this great cause, you can find a link on our website:

www.luthermemoralseattle.com/events, or see Vicar Anja to donate in person on Sunday.

Which way will YOU make a difference?

Will you share a Sunday?

We are looking for folks willing to lead our awesome new Middle School Sunday School class for one or two Sundays out of the entire year! Materials will be provided, preparation is minimal....all you need to do is show up and prepare to be blessed by these amazing young disciples! Please prayerfully consider whether the Spirit is calling you to share of yourself in this way.

Soap Collection

The Seekers are collecting bars of soap for Lutheran World Relief. A brand new bar of soap lets someone present themselves with dignity, keep hands clean, and stay healthy. Those simple things are some of the building blocks to success for all people. LWR will distribute the soap to those in need in many places around the world.

Please bring new bars of any brand of soap, in its original wrapping - bath size (4 to 5 oz.) are highly preferred. Donations will be collected in the Narthex.

Stewardship

I was once told by a bishop that we already have all that we need to do ministry. It has been given to us by God. Our task is to steward, or manage, what we have been given.

In the weeks ahead, you will be hearing from the Stewardship team about what this means. But, as your Pastor, I will say that for me, it is a chance to manage what I've been given by God, in a way that praises God and gives back to God what was first given to me.

I was once told that by looking at my checkbook (or bank statement) and my calendar or day planner I would know where my treasure truly was. I would know what I valued in life. And this seems a good way to measure that.

But, to give as a spiritual practice is vitally important to our growth as the people of God.

My prayer is that we will approach our giving, as a community and as individuals, without anxiety and fear, but with the confidence that comes from knowing that we have already been given all that we need to do ministry....now we need to share it. ~PJ+

Blessing of the Pets

Bring Fido and Fluffy, your parakeet or piranha for the annual Blessing of the Pets at 3 pm on Sunday, October 13. We will meet on the front lawn of the church (or in the narthex in case of inclement weather). There will be snacks for people and pets alike, so invite your neighbors and friends! This year Pet Portraits will be done onsite for a donation to Pasado's Save Haven (a No-Kill Shelter).

Caps Recycling

Aveda is a cosmetics company that includes helping care for the world in their mission statement. Their company strives to set an example to others. As part of their giving back, Aveda has established a cap recycling program. We started a program here at LMLC to collect "good caps" for their program. Cap Collection Guides are available for you to take home and on our website, so you can start to bring caps in! Our collection bin is on the table in front of the office, right next to our recycling.

Examples of good caps are: shampoo, beverage, milk, flip top, detergent and pharmaceutical. Bad caps include: margarine, yogurt, metal, lotion pump and spray pump.

Please take a Cap Collection Guide, and leave your caps to for us to take to Aveda. Caps will be double checked before being delivered, so if you have any doubts, please still leave them! If you have any questions please see Karen Olsen, she has been recycling caps for several years now-Aveda is always glad to get them.

Resting Under the Tree of Life: A Women's Retreat

Many of the women of LMLC enjoyed a day of rest and fellowship at our Women's Retreat. Our theme was "Resting Under the Tree of Life". We gathered along the banks of Thornton Creek at the home of Shirlee Russo for a day of lively conversation, laughter, delicious food, faith exploration, prayer, song, and deep rest. We are grateful to Shirlee for her hospitality!

Lutheran College Fairs

The Lutheran College Fairs are free to the public, and there is no need to pre-register.

Vicar's View

As I settle into my new role here at Luther Memorial Lutheran Church as vicar, I must admit, I feel a bit disjointed.

For me, fall is a melancholy, nesting time. It is when I find myself wanting to stay home and indoors more. The sun and its warmth recede, and my desire to come out, be public, and commune with nature and people goes with it. My introverted side looms and calls to me, and I long for quiet evenings at home with a book under a blanket, suffocating under my two dogs as they snuggle closer.

This particular fall, though, brings me a disjointedness because the season of my life and my vocation do not match the season of the year. Instead of retreating into the quiet walls of my home, I am eager and excited to enter the noisy, active walls of this church. I desire not only the call of this church, but also the call of this community, both within and without the walls. I find myself delighted to embrace the many ministries of this church, and to discover how I can become embedded, both as a follower and a leader. This feels like the spring of my internship here, not the fall of the year.

This disjointedness continues within me when I hear others call to me, not as "Anja," but as "Vicar Anja." Do I really have this title now? What does it mean to be "Vicar Anja"? I struggle with what this means... has my identity changed? Am I supposed to introduce myself as "Vicar Anja" instead of just "Anja"? This feels... disjointing.

As I prepare to preach my first LMLC sermon, I have the blessing (or the curse?) of a choice in the texts for the day. Sunday, September 29th is the festival of Michael and All Angels, and the lectionary offers an additional option. I tend to see exciting possibilities in many scenarios; as I try to determine which text I will call, I struggle to choose which text most calls me.

I have chosen the Time after Pentecost reading for my sermon, but this was a difficult decision because the festival of Michael and All Angels Gospel brings up for me my own disjointedness. The original seventy disciples return to Jesus from their first mission and they exclaim, "Lord, in your name even the demons submit to us!" Jesus responds that they must not rejoice in the power they have over demons, but rather "rejoice that your names are written in heaven" (Luke 10:17-20). I am reminded of the power that any person in ministry holds, and the responsibility that comes with that power. Does wearing the collared shirt bring me attention and respect that I may or may not deserve? This Gospel informs me that yes, there is power in this role, but that is not to be the source of joy that I feel as I dive into my new life here. The source of my joy is not power, but the humbling privilege that I enjoy as a servant of God.

There is, indeed, disjointedness in all of this, but there is also harmony and beauty. Isn't that the way it always is? It is in the contrast that we find beauty. It is in the differences that we are able to come to completion as a person, as a community, and as a body in Christ.

Your fellow servant of God,
"Vicar" Anja

25 YEARS TOGETHER IN CHRIST

The Spirit

The Unlocked Door by the Rev. Kirby Unti, Bishop

Friends,

I must share a delightful break through that has taken place at the Synod Office. If you have ever visited you know that when you approach the outside door of the Synod you would find it locked. Once you discovered where the doorbell is located you could ring yourself in and before long someone would open the door for you.

When I first arrived I began to carefully ask the question, "Why is the door locked?"

It turned out to be one of those classic church stories" with multiple iterations. The bottom line was a rightful concern for the safety of the people in the building and the fact that before the Synod Office was remodeled there were no direct sight lines to the door.

So I raised with the staff and good people of St. John the competing values we were up against - safety verses hospitality. Both are compelling values and worthy of attention.

Raising competing values creates the possibility of a new response that can honor both. We were able to move the issue beyond an either/or posture.

Now we keep the door unlocked during regular office hours. If someone is working alone or if a situation arises where someone feels unsafe we are encouraging the staff to lock the doors.

Hospitality is an important value of the Synod. We hope you will always feel welcomed and well cared for when you enter the door.

And when Jesus knocks we will know he is not asking for us to let him in but rather he is inviting us to come out and join him in the community.

ELCA Prayer Ventures

These petitions are offered as guides to prayer for the global, social and outreach ministries of the church. Thank you for your continued prayers for the life and mission of this church.

Evangelical Lutheran Church in America

God's work. Our hands.

1 Pray for peace in Egypt and for a reconciliation between its citizens and their government.

2 Pray for all who are affected by the criminal justice system – for victims and offenders, their families and loved ones – as we seek to implement the new ELCA social statement, “The Church and Criminal Justice: Hearing the Cries.”

3 Praise God for the ELCA volunteer missionaries and give thanks for the many English-speaking teachers serving at Lutheran schools in Bratislava, Kosice, and Tisovec, Slovakia.

4 Pray for peace in Syria and the hope that the day will come when its citizens are no longer under the threat of violence and death.

5 Pray for the Rev. Elizabeth A. Eaton as she is installed today as the ELCA presiding bishop; remember in your prayers the Rev. Mark Hanson as he concludes his term of service as presiding bishop.

6 Twentieth Sunday after Pentecost.

Merciful God, we thank you for speaking to the people of the Republic of Congo and Gabon, Sao Tome and Principe through the Bible. May they find strength and wisdom in your word. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

7 During Mental Illness Awareness Week, Oct. 6-12, remember those who suffer from mental illness and brain disorders. Pray for families and caregivers, that they may have wisdom, love and peace.

8 Pray for all those suffering in abusive relationships and for the efforts in our congregations to help people dealing with domestic violence.

9 Remember in your prayers ELCA missionaries in Nigeria – Mary Beth and Bayo Oyebade and their HIV and AIDS ministry there.

10 Pray for those who endure flood and fire, especially our brothers and sisters in Colorado and New Jersey. Ease the fears of all and make your presence known.

11 Give thanks for the contributions to the ELCA Vision for Mission, gifts that enable this church to build strategies for the future, mobilize people for mission, promote generosity and create new and renewed congregations.

12 Remember in your prayers the many homeless ministries supported by ELCA congregations. In particular, lift up the Shobi's Table, a ministry of radical hospitality among the homeless population of St. Paul, Minn.

13 Twenty-first Sunday after Pentecost

Almighty God, keep us safe in body, mind and spirit as we strive to accomplish all the work you have for us. Give us strength to serve you in all that we do; through Jesus Christ, our Savior and Lord. Amen.

14 Give thanks for the congregations, such as Ascension Lutheran Church, Riverside, Ill., that are making a difference in the global church by sponsoring an ELCA missionary. Ascension was one of the first ELCA congregations to support Karen Anderson in her work with “Popular Education in Health” and “Action for Health in the Americans” in Chile.

15 Remember in your prayers the recipients around the world of ELCA Good Gifts and pray that, through the generosity of others, those recipients will see a better tomorrow.

ELCA Prayer Ventures

16 Remember in your prayers the Rev. Austin and Tanya Propst, ELCA missionaries who are the Madagascar coordinators for the ELCA's Young Adults in Global Mission program.

17 Pray for those planning the 2014 Triennial gathering of the Women of the ELCA to be held in Charlotte, N.C.

18 Remember in your prayers the Rev. Anna Ballan, an ELCA missionary in Sweden serving in parish ministry.

19 Give thanks for those on the staff of your synod office as they go about the daily needs of this church in your synod.

20 Twenty-second Sunday after Pentecost

We thank you, God, for your gifts of the earth, sea and sky. We ask you to be with us as we strive to be good caretakers of those gifts, that we live in harmony with the natural rhythms of life.

21 Remember in your prayers ELCA instructor in Japan Allyson Bedford, who is teaching English as a second language.

22 Pray for the ELCA's disability ministries, which include making the church welcoming to people with mental illness and brain disorders, visual impairments and hearing disorders.

23 Pray for the efforts in the ELCA and other denominations that are addressing the trend of declining active church membership.

24 Pray for the ELCA Global Mission ministry and all those who walk in accompaniment with our sisters and brothers around the world in the global church.

25 Give thanks for the ELCA Fund for Leaders and pray for its continued support as it provides crucial financial aid for students preparing for the ministry at one of the ELCA's eight seminaries.

26 Remember in your prayers the congregations of the ELCA and their daily efforts to be welcoming to all and to do God's work with our hands where needed.

27 Twenty-third Sunday after Pentecost

O Lord, we give you thanks today for the mission and ministry of The Lutheran World Federation. Be with them in the countless places where they work around the world, as they create unity, justice and peace in a world broken by poverty, violence, hunger and oppression.

28 Include in your prayers the Rev. Nathan and Sharonette Bowman, ELCA missionaries who are serving in parish and social service ministries in Japan.

29 Give thanks for the countless adults who take seriously their role as faith mentors for youth who are trying to find their way in a complex world.

30 Pray for the 10th Assembly of the World Council of Churches, which begins today in Busan, South Korea, under the theme "God of life, lead us to justice and peace." The ELCA is a member of the council.

31 Remember in your prayers the people in the ELCA Young Adults in Global Mission program as they begin their year of walking in accompaniment with brothers and sisters in an unfamiliar culture far from home.
